The curated Insights Media Tours offer various options for getting a look behind the scenes of Berlin's diverse media landscape. Whether watching a live newscast in the studio or a film being shot on location, whether it's a meeting with the Germans who dub famous Hollywood stars, a look into the history of East German media, or a special tour focused on women's accomplishments. The tours provide insights into the life of the city otherwise only open to insiders.

"We took a guided tour of a TV magazine show with our students and it was really exciting to see what actually goes on behind the scenes in a television studio. A truly enriching experience," head of cimdata
