The Royal Porcelain Manufactory Berlin (KPM) stands for top-quality porcelain and epoch-making design since 1763. It has maintained the craftsmanship of a creative manufactory, that has been passed down through generations at its historic location - centrally located between the Victory Column and Berlin Charlottenburg Palace. It is one of the historically significant commercial buildings and at the same time a lively, magical place. In our exhibition and show workshop you will gain exclusive insights into the artistic and craftsmanship of more than 250 years ago. Our guided tours are dedicated to the architecture, design of porcelain and applied firing technology.
