

BERLIN – THE SUSTAINABLE CITY

Link to meeting guide Berlin

In the not-too-distant future, more people will live in large cities and urban centers than outside them. This trend poses new challenges involving the intelligent use of space, ensuring the supply of services and goods to the population and sustainable urban development. This program takes you on a tour of inclusive urban gardening locations and introduces you to the people who make Berlin's forward-looking urban projects a reality and who come up with innovative ideas like combining a fish farm with vegetable gardening. Contact us and we'll happily design a program that's tailored to your interests.
