

Sustainable, social, innovative

The name Borsig stands for innovation and the spirit of invention like no other. The father of German mobility was Europe's biggest manufacturer of railroad and locomotives. Having been drawn to Humboldt and Lenné by a shared love of nature, the entrepreneur founded Europe's first in-house corporate social system. The architects of the Borsigs were the best of their day. The last Borsig to reside here was a member of the Kreisau Circle – the biggest resistance group against the Nazis.

Relax, unwind, feel good

This is exactly what you can do in our bio-hotel or the old guest house. Together they offer a total of 105 double rooms and 23 suites, situated lakeside at the Groß Behnitzer See on the edge of the Westhavelland nature park. The perfect place for rest and relaxation. Sustainable thanks to wood-fired heating, in-house electricity production, electro smog-reduced rooms, a rainwater toilet flush system, organic beds and textiles. Committed to the common good.

Meeting, training, motivation

Following the footsteps of the Kreisau Circle, which held meetings here, the site offers 13 different salons – two of which can each accommodate 700 people. This is the perfect setting for successful events. You can build team spirit and motivation by joining us at our Borsig steam engine, or in our old print workshop, dating from 1890. Other options are team raft building or the in-house LAB Academy.

Weddings by the lake

Be it under ancient trees, in our own in-house registry office, or in the idyllic, sixteenth-century village church: let yourself be enchanted by the mysterious atmosphere of the Landgut with its romantic park by the lake. We can turn your day into an unforgettable experience.

Brandenburg cuisine

Our Restaurant Seeterrassen, with what is probably Brandenburg's loveliest lakeside terrace, invites you to linger. Tea and coffee specialities and our innovative Brandenburg cuisine made using exclusively seasonal, market-fresh and regional produce, sometimes even from our own herb and vegetable garden and predominantly of organic origin are prepared by our creative chef.

LANDGUT STOBER

The most sustainable private hotel in Germany
the top one German conference hotel 2016

Just step through the impressive red brick gateway with antique sandstone sculptures to enter a very special place. The old guest house, the stables, the stillhouse, the granary, the tall, ancient trees and the shore of the lake: it's a place full of atmosphere and spirit. It's a magical place.

LANDGUT STOBER

Plane trees
ALEXANDER VON HUMBOLDT brought AUGUST BORSIG two Asian plane trees as a thank-you gift from one of his expeditions

Castle
A castle once stood on this spot.

Guest house
A smaller version of the castle, formerly a guest house and now a hotel with 23 double rooms and three suites

Granary
On the ground floor is the "Hofladen" where agricultural produce was once traded, the first floor is where you'll find the Ruth, Margret, Annelise, Lilli salons, and on the second floor is the Creativity Gallery

Stillhouse
Centre for historic craftsmanship using an old Borsig steam engine; "Landgut Borsig und der Kreisauer Kreis" exhibition; wine bar with indoor seating for 80 and 120 seats on the terrace

Poultry house and calf shed
Now the Restaurant Seeterassen with seating for 80 indoors and for 120 more on the terrace, as well as Salon Luise for meetings or celebrations; permanent exhibition on "Landgut Borsig – A window on German history"

Bio-hotel
Hotel extension with 82 double rooms and 20 suites, certified by the Bioland organic food organisation, bicycle hire

Park
The Borsigs have been important dendrologists for generations. August Borsig was an early member of what is now the German horticultural society known as the Deutsche Gartenbau-Gesellschaft 1822 e.V.. His son permanently redesigned the layout of all the parkland and plantation forest, as well as the village and the Landgut itself.

Stables and carriage house
Once served as accommodation for the head horseman (under external ownership)

Gateway
The figures by CARL VON GONTARD came from the former Oranienburger Tor in Berlin.

Caretaker's lodge
Now contains the Albert and Anna salons as well as the registry office with marriage room and two waiting rooms, on the right for the men and on the left for the women.

Cowshed
Now accommodates the Salon August hall on the ground floor and the Ernst, Arnold and Conrad salons for meetings or private celebrations on the first floor.

Piggery
Currently not available, due to be reconstructed, currently used as a parking area

Locomotive
Unfortunately just a KRUPP industrial locomotive (we are still on the hunt for a Borsig locomotive)

Behnitzer Dorfstraße
The double-tree-lined avenue was laid out and planted by A. BORSIG

Schmiede/Försterhaus
Built by EUGEN SCHMOHL (under external ownership)
