

LANDGUT
STOBER

Plane trees
ALEXANDER VON HUMBOLDT brought AUGUST BORSIG two Asian plane trees as a thank-you gift from one of his expeditions

Castle
A castle once stood on this spot.

Guest house
A smaller version of the castle, formerly a guest house and now a hotel with 23 double rooms and three suites

Granary
On the ground floor is the "Hofladen" where agricultural produce was once traded, the first floor is where you'll find the Ruth, Margret, Annelise, Lilli salons, and on the second floor is the Creativity Gallery

Stillhouse
Centre for historic craftsmanship using an old Borsig steam engine; "Landgut Borsig und der Kreisauer Kreis" exhibition; wine bar with indoor seating for 80 and 120 seats on the terrace

Poultry house and calf shed
Now the Restaurant Seeterassen with seating for 80 indoors and for 120 more on the terrace, as well as Salon Luise for meetings or celebrations; permanent exhibition on "Landgut Borsig – A window on German history"

Bio-hotel
Hotel extension with 82 double rooms and 20 suites, certified by the Bioland organic food organisation, bicycle hire

Park
The Borsigs have been important dendrologists for generations. August Borsig was an early member of what is now the German horticultural society known as the Deutsche Gartenbau-Gesellschaft 1822 e.V.. His son permanently redesigned the layout of all the parkland and plantation forest, as well as the village and the Landgut itself.

Stables and carriage house
Once served as accommodation for the head horseman (under external ownership)

Gateway
The figures by CARL VON GONTARD came from the former Oranienburger Tor in Berlin.

Caretaker's lodge
Now contains the Albert and Anna salons as well as the registry office with marriage room and two waiting rooms, on the right for the men and on the left for the women.

Cowshed
Now accommodates the Salon August hall on the ground floor and the Ernst, Arnold and Conrad salons for meetings or private celebrations on the first floor.

Piggery
Currently not available, due to be reconstructed, currently used as a parking area

Locomotive
Unfortunately just a KRUPP industrial locomotive (we are still on the hunt for a Borsig locomotive)

Behnitzer Dorfstraße
The double-tree-lined avenue was laid out and planted by A. BORSIG

Schmiede/ Försterhaus
Built by EUGEN SCHMOHL (under external ownership)

First organically certified hotel in Berlin and Brandenburg

Patrons, partners and certificates

Gateway, caretaker's lodge

Meetings in Salon Arnold/Conrad

Bio-hotel interior, hotel room

Caretaker's lodge and registry office

Guest house, lake side

Lakeside terrace

Cassis yoghurt sorbet with brownie

Creativity Gallery

300-year-old plane trees

Restaurant Seeterassen

Cowshed, Salon August

Meeting in the cowshed

View from the guest house to the lake

Wedding beside the lake

Sea bass with mussel ragout

Wine cellar