New venues: Osthafen Berlin and Verti Music Hall

Old industrial buildings come to life in Berlin: The most recent example is the Osthafen Berlin - located directly on the river Spree. With more than 1,100 square meters of indoor and 2,000 square meters of outdoor space and direct access to the water, the multifunctional venue offers a special setting for events. www.osthafen.de

Whether a corporate event, conference or gala ball: from November 2018 the Verti Music Hall will be a new flexible location for events with up to 4,500 participants. The Verti Music Hall is not only located in one of the most sought-after areas of the city - many hotels and bars are in the immediate vicinity - it is also easily accessible by public transport. www.verti-music-hall.de

Make a note: Messe Berlin will open new multifunctional hall „hub27“ in 2019

With the construction of an additional multifunctional hall, Berlin is strengthening its position in the international trade fair and convention sector. The new hall will provide 10,000 m². Equipped with the latest technology, it can be flexibly adapted to the needs of each event. Thus the hall will also be usable for larger congresses. Construction is scheduled to be completed by April 2019. www.hub27-berlin.de/en/

Meeting at the dinosaurs: Berlin's museums as event locations

Events where participants meet between dinosaurs come with a high 'wow' factor – and probably nowhere more so than here. The mounted dinosaur skeleton of Brachiosaurus brancai in Berlin's Natural History Museum soars to a height of over 13 metres – worth an entry in the Guinness Book of Records. Events are held in the World of Dinosaurs, dominated by this massive exhibit, 150 million years old. www.museumfuernaturkunde.berlin/en
